OREM, Utah – Aug. 21, 2008 – BuilderFusion® Inc., a leader in membership management software for professional associations, was this week named one of the fastest-growing software companies in the nation by Inc. magazine. Over a three-year period, the company has achieved revenue growth of more than 1000 percent.

“This ranking is a wonderful validation of what BuilderFusion’s many customers have known for years: That the company delivers the very best association management software on the market,” said BuilderFusion CEO Mitch Merrifield. “Since its inception eight years ago, the BuilderFusion software has had a dramatic impact on professional associations across the United States, helping them eliminate redundant data entry, drive down operating costs and communicate more effectively with their members.”

In addition to its placement as the number 11 fastest-growing software company in the United States, Inc. magazine also ranked BuilderFusion number 252 among all companies in any industry. That ranking has garnered the company a place in the prestigious Inc. 500, an annually published list of the fastest-growing private companies in the nation.

“If you want to find out which companies are going to change the world, look at the Inc. 500,” said Inc. Editor Jane Berentson. “These are the most innovative, dynamic, fast-growing companies in the nation – the ones coming up with solutions to some of our knottiest problems, creating systems that let us conduct business faster and easier, and manufacturing products we soon discover we can’t live without. The Inc. 500 list is Inc. magazine’s tribute to American business ingenuity and ambition.”

Founded in 2000, BuilderFusion was a pioneer of the application service provider (ASP) model, delivering software as a service over the Internet. The company was the first to take association member management entirely to the Web and today offers a software suite that combines
